A BONNIE LASSIE.

It is safe to say that nobody was disappointed in the performance last Thursday evening in Zion Chapel. Mary Kubo was at that her friends and she was a most agreeable singer. The "Bonnies" from an artistic standpoint, was very fine. "Naughty Zoll" made everybody laugh at the little Misselwood, while the "Lassies" were as sprightly as the girls in the schoolroom.

We are indebted to those of our patrons who included their accounts with us in their April settlements and would ask others not to forget us, as the printer must print them.

Jane Kasper, on Dr. Dickson's farm, Steban township, has a ere that gave birth to a lamb that weighed eighteen pounds.

On Thursday evening the tenant house on the farm of Wm. Webb, near Daniel'sburg, was returning from Peter Dardour's sale, Menallen township, her team collided with another vehicle, throwing Mrs. Webb out and severely injuring her.

Miss A. S. Barb is exhibiting all the new styles in Spring and Summer Millinery. The leading trimmer in the establishment has been for some weeks in Baltimore City in the interest of the trimming department and is now doing unique and stylish trimming. The ladies are invited to an opening of Easter hats and Bonnets on the 16th and 17th. No. 14 Baltimore street.

NOTES.—S. G. Bigelow, of Greenbaum, Pa., who is agent for the New Champion Binders and Mowers for Adams county, will get all repairs needed for Champion machines.

Commencement Week.

According to arrangements completed last week the College and Seminary commencement will take place this year on the first week in June. Rev. Milton Valentine, D. D., chairman of the Seminary Faculty, will preach the Baccalaureate sermon to the graduating classes in both institutions, on Sunday morning, May 30.

Rev. Victor Miller, of Leitersburg, Md., will deliver the Seminary annual address and Rev. A. R. Steel of this place, the address to the College students. It is likely that the Address of the Seminary Faculty, will be given on Tuesday evening and that of the College Wednesday evening.

The Senior class day will be given on Tuesday afternoon, at 1:30 p.m. The exercises of the graduating class will be given on Thursday morning in Zion Chapel, at which the following members of the graduating class will sit:—Henry W. Dahlke, Gettysburg; V. Edgerton; George F. Abel, Philadelphia; Wm. H. Stinson; Robbin B. Wolf, Gettysburg; "Greece and the Concert of Europe"; F. M. Dunc, Spring Mills; "Christian Scholarship"; Geo. J. Kain, York; "The Death of a Scientist"; Miss Gertrude Sieber, Gettysburg; "Sixty Years Queen Victoria"; H. E. Cluse, Harrisburg; "State Politics in Pennsylvania"; A. B. Coble, Leikin; "The Extent of the Laborer's Groves"; Harry R. Smith, Chambersburg; "The Chief Religious Problems of the Day"; Clifton G. White, Marlinton; "Physical Training for the Twentieth Century."

The exercises of the Senior class will be given on Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

The President's reception likely to be the meeting on Wednesday evening.

The graduation exercises of the College will take place on Thursday morning in the Courthouse, on the second floor of the Courthouse, owned by one of the editors of this paper.

Sil leaves five children, Misses Fannie B., Jessie P., Sue and Nellie, and one son, Charles W.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon at 1:30, Dr. Barkley, assisted by Rev. A. R. Steel officiating. The bearers were L. T. Wenzel, C. E. Calp, H. C. Sanders, A. J. Smith, J. Emory Blair, and C. H. Huff. The interment was made in the Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Margaret Bodler died last Monday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Louis D. Wine, 1717 Q street, N. W., Washington, of heart trouble, aged 80 years, 2 months and 12 days. Mrs. Bodler was the widow of Edward B. Bodler, Esq., one of the most distinguished lawyers of the Gettysburg bar. She leaves three step-daughters, Mrs. Boden, Mrs. John D. Luker, of Hagerstown, Md., and Mrs. Louis C. Clement, of Salisbury, N. C., and Mrs. Louis D. Wine, of Washington, D. C. She passed away on Thursday in the family lot in Evergreen Cemetery, Dr. T. J. Mr. Confort was born in Germany, and was the daughter of Henry Garisch.

She is the last of the family. The deceased leaves a husband and three daughters, Mrs. John Thorn, of Gettysburg; Mrs. Rev. Frank Garland, of Taneytown, Md., and Mrs. Walter Wilmer, of Baltimore.

The funeral will take place from her late home on Baltimore street, on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. A. R. Steel will officiate. Interment is to be made in the Evergreen Cemetery.

W. C. VanCleave found a rusty army revolver on the battlefield last week. It is complete with the exception of the cartridge cylinder. It is evidently one that was used in the battle, and is quite a relic.

ROUNDTOP.—A large building at Beaver, Pa., was burned, causing a loss of $30,000. The friends of Rev. Dr. Ramsey, the Presbyterian pastor of that place, will be sorry to learn that he lost all his household furniture and a great many valuable books and paintings, which were temporarily stored in the building.

Our policeman made quite a stir on Saturday, with their spurs, new guineas. They looked as if they liked them and we are sure the citizens of the town are glad to see them well uniformed.

The office is indebted to "Miss Host," Elias Foss, for an invitation to his dining dinner on the First.

Last Sunday afternoon the Salmon family, of this place joined in a communion service in Christ Lutheran church.

Rev. J. C. Altemann, presided. Mr. Horn had in player and addresses were made by Rev. J. W. Woods and Rev. A. R. Steck.

New Strawberry Beds.

Some Facts to Be Considered by Inexperienced Growers—The Choice of Varieties

Early in the spring, or about April, is the time to set out the young plants for a new strawberry bed. Beginners will have had no experience, but use the varieties you grow in your garden, other than to procure kinds that may be most suited to your taste. It is best to purchase from a nurseryman, as he will be enabled to procure at least one-fourth of the plants that produce perfect blossoms (both staminate and pistillate), so as to have all blossoms fertilized. The pistillate varieties are usually the most prolific, but every fourth row must be of a staminate and pistillate variety, though, if preferred, the plants may be all of the perfect flowering kind. When the plants arrive they must not be exposed to the winds or the roots will become dry. If the ground is not ready put the plants in a moist place, roots covered and crowns above ground, and shade them from the direct rays of the sun. It is best, however, to have a ground prepared and ready for the plants and they should be set out just after a shower, otherwise it will be an advantage to pour a little water around the roots when setting them out.

CULTIVATION.

The plants that are put out this year will not bear until next season.

The only young runners and discard all plants that have borne fruit. I lay off the rows 25 inches apart, and put the plants 14 inches apart in the rows. If they are set out by a line both ways, so as to leave them in one direction, they can be easily cut out when they are to be taken up.

The editor of one of the leading dairy journals states that if one half the cows now giving milk, intelligently selected for that purpose, could be slaughtered within a week, the remaining half would yield a greater profit than is now realized from the whole.

The plants will grow from cuttings and it gives an opportunity to do so, while it is well to do it now that the vines are small.

TOMORROW'S PAPER

The plants will make no progress

while the less top soil will serve as a cushion and protect in dry weather.

If the bed is kept very clean the first year, it will prevent the weeds from taking possession of the land next year, as the cannot be destroyed in the rows after the runners have covered the ground.

PRESERVING THE EGG.

A strawberry bed should be produced at least three years, or even longer.

Everything depends on the killing of the weeds.

Along in the summer the plants will send out runners, which will be so numerous as to completely cover the rows. These are the young plants from the parents and draw upon the parent vines to a certain extent, for which reason they should be cut off. This is done quickly by pressing a piece of stove pipe over the parent plant, the edges of the pipe cutting off the runners. If the plants are sickly, and the bed is not too large to do so, sprinkle once a week with a solution made by dissolving a pound of nitrate of soda and a pound of sulphate of potash in six gallons of cold water, using a water pot. Fully a week spring apply on the plants a bag of sulphate of potash and ten pounds of manure of potash each, which should be done before the trees are fully grown. It will be an advantage, after a crop is harvested, to turn back the top soil to eat out one-half, that is, leaving the plants 25 inches apart the top a little more doing the work easily, and then continue cultivation with the wheel barrow. It is the second year that the weeds will be destroyed in the rows after the runners have covered the ground.

Feeding for Eggs.

Overfeeding produces worse results than not feeding enough. It tends to do not rapidly, or scarcely eat at all.

It is an art of overfeeding, and the remedy is to stop feeding with the last gathering. It is a mistake to feed three times a day, and only this, but it is to stimulate the appetite of the hens to fast, they will eat a round the clock for two-thirds of the day in the morning. An full meal at night, gives the best results in eggs. The equal application of flour confined in breeding pens and hens running at large.

When hens are confined, they must be furnished with grit, green food, lime and a dust bath and many things must be added. Old plaster, dry, is a good substitute for both grit and lime as are crushed oyster shells. A good twice a week ration is meat scraps and cutlery meal or granulated bone. One of the most important things is scratching, as the hens are not kept busy, they are not happy, and if they are not provided for and furnished with clean straw, they will be busily happy, in fact.

Kinder corn is one of the best egg producing foods that I have ever seen. It consists of parts of corn and cobs, and a fourth of wheat and corn, all ground together for a hot mash to the hens made by steaming with boiling water just enough water to leave it in a mushy consistency, and by no means sloppy. A little salt, and occasionally a little cayenne pepper, may be added. This should be fed in clean troughs, and never on the ground. The evening meal may be whole grain, but principally of one of the above mentioned grains except corn. This may be fed, but it must be used sparingly. It is a good plan to give them a good feed of any of the grain first, and the last thing before going to roost give them with corn.

BE careful of the seed used. Poor seed is worse than none, as it degrades by causing the farmer to lose time while waiting for it to germinate. Many inferior crops are caused by the seed being old or otherwise worthless.

It is also well to see that all seeds are free from those of other plants, as a few may be stocked with weeds through the seeds bought. Clover seed is a source through which many undesirable weeds come.
